Background

Whaling ship (New Bedford, Mass.)

SCUA regularly receives individual manuscripts and small groupings of materials that are historically valuable, but which do not stand on their own as collections. For administrative purposes, most of these are aggregated into an artificial grouping, the Miscellaneous Manuscripts Collection.

Scope of collection

Truly miscellaneous in scope and containing a wide range of content and types of formats, the Miscellaneous Manuscripts Collection spans the full range of subjects, time periods, and regions consistent with SCUA's collecting policy, with a particular emphasis on Massachusetts history. Materials are added to the collection on a regular basis.
