Background on Jamaica Plain Gazette

Sandra Storey has been an active resident of Jamaica Plain since 1973. In 1985, she was elected chairperson of the Jamaica Plain Neighborhood Council. Storey founded Gazette Publications Inc. in 1990 which published the Jamaica Plain Gazette (1990-current), Mission Hill Gazette (1990-current), and Hyde Park Today (1994-1997). Storey founded and edited the newspapers until 2010 when the Jamaica Plain Gazette and Mission Hill Gazette were sold to the Independent Newspaper Group. Storey continues to work as an editor for the newspapers and as a columnist for the Jamaica Plain Gazette. Storey is also a published poet who works to bring poetry to the general public through local workshops and events. In 2014, Storey was named Community Champion by Ecumenical Social Action Committee Inc., a non-profit organization that offers community-building social services for Boston and Eastern Massachusetts residents.

The bi-weekly Jamaica Plain Gazette, in some cases including inserts for Hyde Park Today, and monthly Mission Hill Gazette featured articles about the residents, businesses, and organizations in their respective Boston neighborhoods in both English and Spanish. The newspapers ran articles that highlight youth programs and sports, senior services, transportation and housing issues, and the achievements of local residents. Community involvement by politicians including former Mayors Raymond Flynn and Thomas Menino, former Governor Deval Patrick, and President Barack Obama was also featured.
